

REAL ESTATE EXECUTIVE CARRI LYON ELECTED TO BOARD OF HEALTHCARE CHAPLAINCY NETWORK

NEW YORK, N.Y. (November 20, 2014)—HealthCare Chaplaincy Network (HCCN) announced today that Carri Lyon of Manhattan, a leading real estate broker, has joined the board of directors of this national organization.

Lyon is an executive director at Cushman & Wakefield, Inc., New York City, where she specializes in tenant representation throughout the metropolitan area. She has assisted numerous nonprofit organizations in space acquisitions, and is regarded as one of the leading nonprofit brokers in New York City.

“We are delighted that Carri Lyon is joining HealthCare Chaplaincy Network at this important juncture in the organization’s evolution. Her expertise as a broker and attorney, and her outstanding commitment to the nonprofit sector bodes well for our cause,” said Rev. Eric J. Hall, HCCN’s president and CEO.

Prior to a career in commercial brokerage, Lyon worked as an attorney specializing in real estate finance and commercial leasing. She received her undergraduate degree from Yale University and later earned her law degree at New York University School of Law.

In 2012, the “Commercial Observer” newspaper named Lyon one of the top 20 women in commercial real estate. She is a member of WX/Women Executives in Real Estate, the Yale Alumni Association/Yale Club, and the New York State Bar Association.
